

Endor AG: CEO Thomas Jackermeier further increases private stake in the company

Landshut, January 27, 2021 - Thomas Jackermeier, CEO of Endor AG, has increased his stake in Endor AG. He has thus increased his direct and indirect shareholding, including his family, of around 47 percent by approximately 3 percent and indirectly acquired shares with a total volume of €7,725,000 via his investment company. The acquisition was made from private funds and not, for example, within the framework of option programs.

Thomas Jackermeier, CEO of Endor AG: "Since the founding of Endor AG in 1997, I have been 100 percent convinced of the direction and product range of Endor and our growth path. Since then we have made great progress, the company has grown and made a name for itself worldwide in the relevant product segments. I am convinced that we will also benefit greatly from the future growth of our industry, especially in simracing. Therefore, it was very important to me personally to further expand my shareholding and I am also considering increasing the share even further in the short term."
